The 14 km long trail leads from Červenohorské sedlo (you can get there by bus or by car) along the red sign towards Vřesová studánka (Heather Spring). There is a stone chapel that covers the local mountain spring. The route continues through the Šerák – Keprník National Nature Preserve. At the Šerák – crossroad, continue along the red sign through Černava to Ramzová, where the trail ends.

The guide on this trail is Koprniček – a small plant that grows on the Jeseník Mountains ridges.
